CRYING NEED OF UTAH SPORTSMEN

Action of Legislature Necessary to Prevent Extinction of Fish and Game.

What is wrong with the fish and game of Utah? In a state which nature has done more to make a fishing and hunting paradise than any other spot on the American continent, where the clear, swift running streams without number are a natural spawning ground for trout. the samest and sportiest of all fish; a state which has more and better natural breeding grounds for ducks and geese than any other place in the world; a state in which fertile valleys furnish ideal places for the brooding of quail, chicken, grouse, pheasants, doves and all species of field game; a state in which the mountains are a natural shelter in winter and which furnish the best of feeding grounds in summer for deer, elk, mountain sheep and antelope, to say nothing of the wilder game of bear and lions; such a state is Utah and today its game such a state is Utah and today its game is practically exterminated.

If conditions were different the sportsmen of Utah would live a life of envy to every sportsman in the United States. Instead of hundreds of the residents of this commonwealth making trips each year into Idaho. Montana, Wyoming, Colorado and other western states in quest of pleasure and spending thousands of dollars of Utah money, these people could find pleasure at home and spend their time and money in their own state. Utah would then be like other western states, drawing hundreds of sportsmen Utah would then be like other western states, drawing hundreds of sportsmen each year from the crowded east to hunt and fish, spend their money and perhaps become enamored with the country and settle here. They are doing this every year in other western states. Ask the Rio Grande railroad officials and they will tell you that hundreds of thousands of cestern money is ment yearly in Color the state fish and game department is utterly worthless. The states surround-ing Utah discovered years ago that legising Utah discovered years ago that legis-lation was necessary and then the en-forcement of these laws must follow, or fish and game would become extinct. These states heeded the warning of lead-ing sportsmen and today fish and game is more plentiful than they ever were, even when the mountains, valleys and streams were in the virgin state.

Why Sportsmen Organized.

To prevent the complete extinction of fish and game is the purpose of the Utah Fish and Game Protective association, which was formed last summer. This association is now working on the legis-lature to secure an appropriation to en-force the laws. It has come forward with a proposition to tax the sportsmen them-selves to help raise the necessary funds. Such a tax, it is believed, would bring in a big sum of money to the fish and game department and with a liberal appropriation would within two years place Utah again in the front ranks as a fishing and hunting state. Montana, Wyoming, Idaho and Colorado have such a tax and Idaho and Colorado have such a tax and the present output the state of the game commissioners of this amount of fry was placed in the these states show that thousands of dol-streams of the state and the wardens and enlars annually find their way into the state treasury from this source. stopped dynamiting the streams and en-forced the screen law, in two years' time every creek in Utah would be fairly alive

Must Enforce Laws.

The sportsmen who have made a study of conditions in Utah as well as other states have decided not to ask for any change in the laws as they stand, believing they are good enough if enforced. With an appropriation and the license se cured they will ask for a live state com missioner who will see that the laws ar enforced. There is no gainsaying the fact that these laws have been broken indiscriminately and the attention of the present fish and game commissioner has been repeatedly called to the fact. Arrests and criminately and the attention of the present fish and game commissioner has been repeatedly called to the fact. Arrests and convictions for breaking these laws are almost unheard of, and while it must be admitted that the fish and game department has been short of funds, yet there should have been some attempt at least to enforce the laws.

Warden System Is Wrong.

One great trouble is the present system of a state warden and county wardens working under a separate head. As the law now stands the county wardens are appointed by the county commissioners, who as a rule care nothing about the enforcement of the law. In the outlying countles especially the wardens are paid a mere pittance, one case coming to mind where the warden gets the munificent sum of $25 a year. In other counties the salaries run from $5 to $20 a month and as a result the wardens take no interest whetever in their warder.

The average of the duck clubs rail at these organizations, but if it was not for the Utah duck clubs rail at these organizations, but if it was not for the Utah duck clubs rail at these organizations, but if it was not for the Utah duck clubs rail at these organizations, but if it was not for the Utah duck clubs rail at these organizations, but if it was not for the Utah duck clubs rail at these organizations, but if it was not for the Utah duck clubs rail at these organizations, but if it was not for the Utah duck clubs rail at these organizations, but if it was not for the Utah duck clubs rail at these organizations, but if it was not for the Utah duck clubs rail at these organizations, but if it was not for the Utah duck clubs rail at these organizations, but if it was not for the Utah duck clubs rail at these organizations, but if it was not for the Utah duck clubs rail at these organizations, but if it was not for the Utah duck clubs rail at these organizations, but if it was not for the Utah duck clubs rail at these organizations, but if it was not for the Utah duck clubs rail at these organizations, but if it was not as a result the wardens take no interess whatever in their work. The appointment is generally to fill some political debt without regard to the qualifications of the man. As a result some person is caught breaking the law, no arrest is made as it might lose a vote at the next election of a neighbor of the warden. These facts have been brought out in investigations by sportsmen who have tried in their limited way to stop the game hog from doing business.

Change in System Needed.

The entire warden system should be under the complete charge of the state fish and game commissioner. He should be given money enough to hire, say fivemore would be better—wardens at a salary of about $1,000 a year. These men should devote their entire time to the fish and game department. If reports come in to the state game warden that the fish or game law is being broken in a certain part of the state, the commissioner could at once dispatch one or two of these state wardens to these parts, find the guilty man and secure evidence and push a conviction. A few of these cases given widespread publicity would soon settle the fish and game hog busi-The entire warden system should be unances instead of giving it to the ranchers and farmer of neighboring states.

If one of the smaller towns in the southern part of the state would take up the matter of fishing alone, see that the streams in its immediate vicinity is well stocked with fish and let the fact be known, the railroads would haul hundreds of Salt Lake fishermen to that locality every Sunday and hundreds of dollars would be spent by them in that community during their couple of days outing. In years past the outside members of the legislature have not taken kindly to the city sportsmen, but if they will carefully investigate conditions as they are in Utah and then look around them and see what is being done in other states, it is a foregone conclusion that the members of the alfalfa club will become the sportsmen's best friend. soon settle the fish and game hog business. Five men like Bill Bingley, who by the way is hardly paid salary enough by the county to feed the horse it is necessary for him to use—would in a year drive the game hogs out of the business.

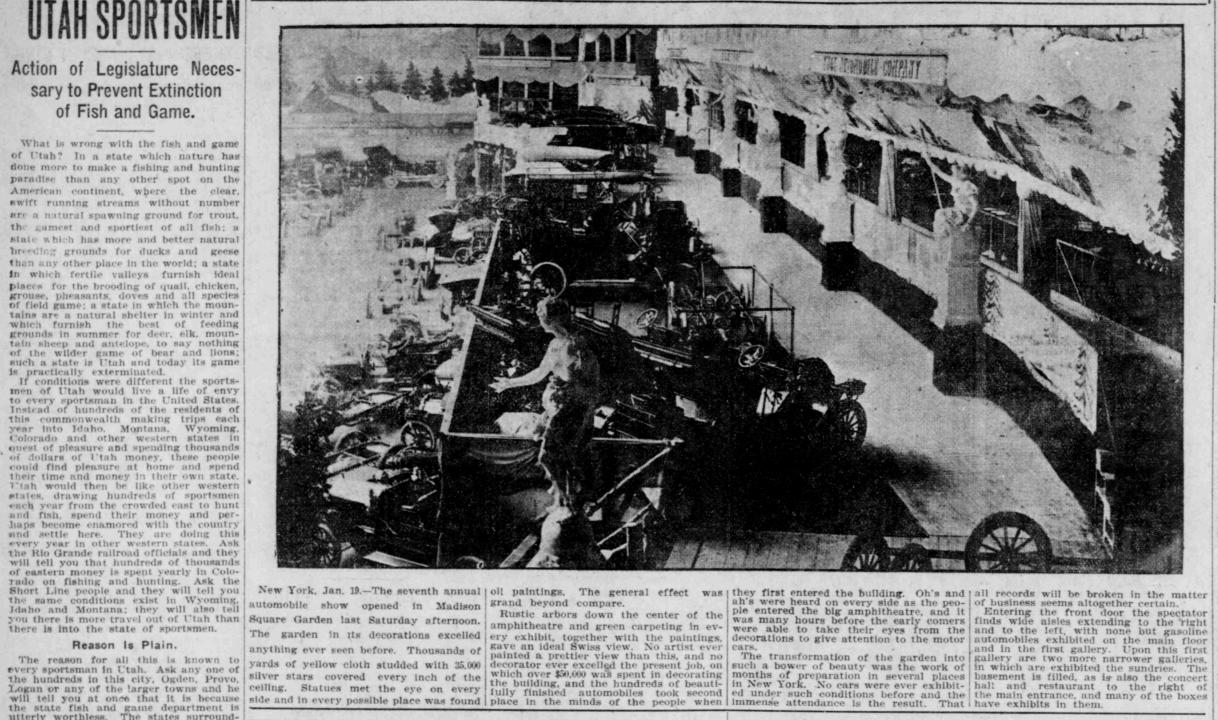

State as Fish Monger.

Another mistake that is being made is the selling of fish fry by the state. There are private hatcheries in Utah which make it a business to raise and sell fish fry and it is not believed it ever was the intention of the law for the state of Utah to become a fish monger. Last spring there was not a single fish fry planted in Utah waters. Instead the spawners were taken out of their native streams by the state fish commissioner spawners were taken out of their native streams by the state fish commissioner and stripped of their spawn and thrown back in the creeks. This spawn was taken to the state hatchery, hatched and sold as fry. Not only did the fish department of the state not plant any fish in the streams, but rebbed the streams of the natural increase. streams by the state fish commissioner and stripped of their spawn and thrown back in the creeks. This spawn was taken to the state hatchery, hatched and sold as fry. Not only did the fish department of the state not plant any fish in the streams, but robbed the streams of the atural increase.

Increase Size of Hatchery.

The state hatchery has at the present time a capacity of about 1,000,000 fry twice a year, spring and fall. At an expense of about 1,500, economically expended, this capacity could be trebled. It would cost with trout. This fact is known to every fisherman in the state.

Clubs Save the Ducks.

It is to the duck clubs and not the game wardens that the state owes its present supply of ducks. If it were not a fact that leading sportsmen of the state have bought lands, erected dams and planted feed to raise ducks, and then hired depu-ties to enforce the state laws, a duck in Utah could only be found in a mu-

Up to the Legislatur.e.

It is up to the Utah legislature this session to adjust these difficulties. They can do it by listening to the entreaties of the sportsmen. They do not ask for anything unreasonable or unjust. The country members, especially those who represent the farmers and ranchers remote from the city, could do their con-stituency no greater good than to make it possible to enforce the fish and game laws. If this is done the sportsmen of Utah, the man living in the city, would spend his summer vacation near these small outside communities, spend his money there for provisions and conveyances instead of giving it to the ranchers

Salt Lake Good Baseball Town

Otto. Floto thinks Salt Lake is a good baseball town. On his recent visit to this city he made a quiet investigation of the conditions here and this is what he has to say about Salt Lake in the Denver Post:

"Out in Salt Lake they seem to be baseball crazy and I feel certain that if a club could be organized out there that would be in some big league like the Western, the Mormon capital would be one of the best baseball towns in the country. While in that city last week I was approached by several fans asking what I thought of the scheme to organize a league that would embrace Denver, Pueblo. Salt Lake, Ogden and Butte, Montana. To be candid I think the circuit mentioned would prove good ball towns, but the railroad jumps would not only be very expensive, but they would also cause the teams to lose many dates owing to the distances between the different towns. If Salt Lake could induce the California league to take them in they would prove a far better town than some of those now in that charmed circle on the coast.

"Salt Lake is growing and growing fast, and with the new railroads that are being built, all headed her way, is going to be one of the greatest cities in the West and before many years will give us all a hard race to excel her. It is for this reason that baseball ought to be a good investment there.
